

Your Pet's Name

Tuesday, April 23, 2024

Ljubljana, Slovenia

MY DOGOSCOPE

The Dogoscope before you invites you and your furry best friend on a tail-wagging astrology journey.

The date of Your Pet's Name's birth influences every aspect of his existence - from his appearance to his unique personality, talents, emotions and woof-tastic reactions.

You see, the energies of the celestial planets at the time of your pup's birth are as unique as their snout prints. They shape who they are, affecting everything from their favorite chew toys to their reactions to the mailman.

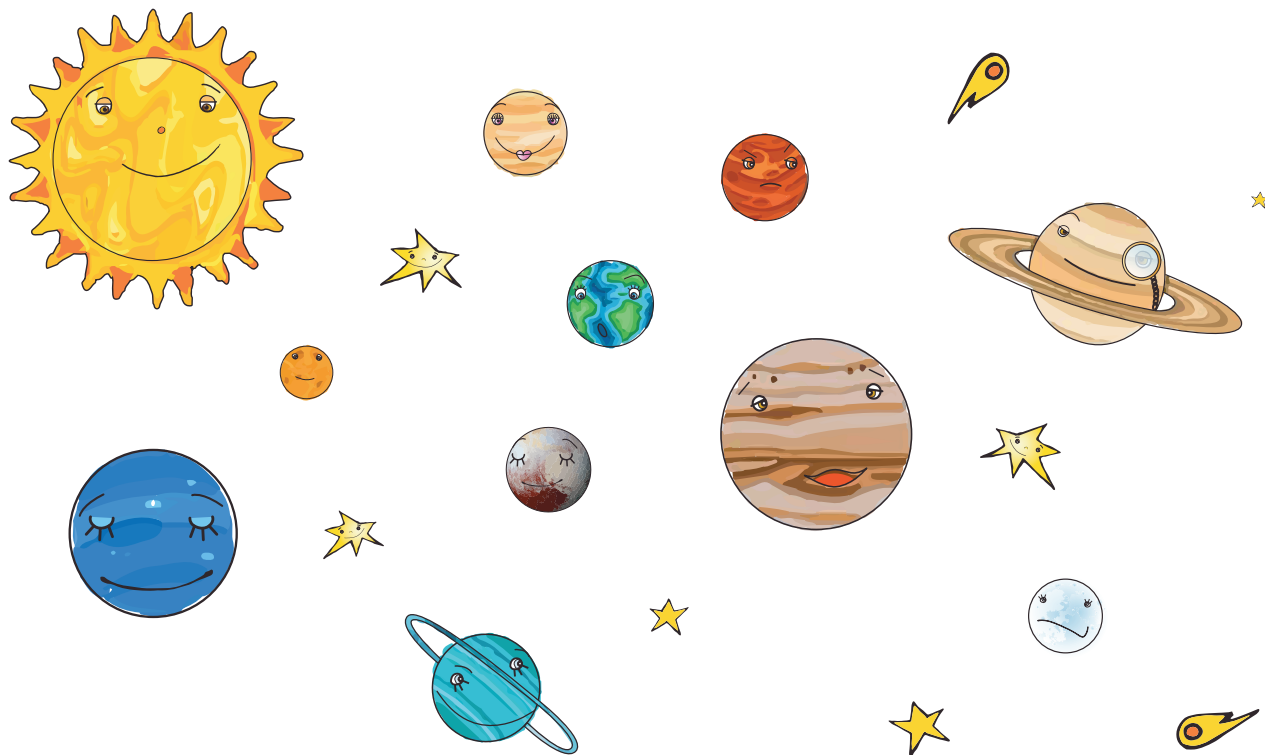

The world of Dogoscope, the Zodiac circle, is divided into twelve paw-some signs. Each sign has a governing element — fire, earth, water or air — and carries a certain behavior pattern. For humans, the circle is further divided into twelve »houses«, defined by the Ascendant, the easternmost point at the moment of your pup's birth. However, since most pups don't come to your home with a detailed litter birth certificate, we can't calculate their Ascendant treats (oops, we mean traits). Then there's the importance of planets and the angles or paw-spects they form. In your pup's personal Dogoscope, we will also focus on their personal planets.

Our experienced astrologers not only know how to read these celestial paw-sitions but also interpret them in a way that will help your fluffster achieve its highest potential. Because your dog's destiny is not carved in bone (err, stone) and like all beings made of energy, with knowledge and guidance, you can teach any dog, young or old, new tricks to help them lead the best life.

In conclusion, remember that having the unconditional love of a dog for you is like being born under a lucky star. However, this Dogoscope will also help your pup always feel like howling at that lucky star – for having a human friend who understands it and provides it everything it needs so you can both experience an even more magical connection you share.

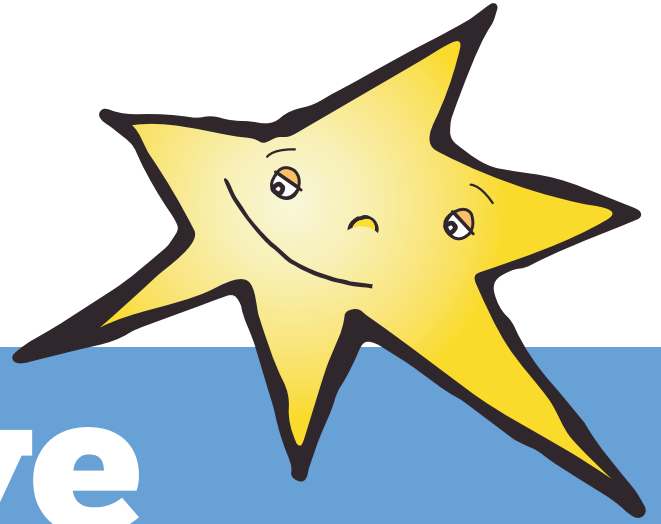

So, what is Dogoscope?

In simple terms even your doggies could understand, the Zodiac is like the cosmic collar that our Sun follows, marking its territory across the sky.

We've got two types of zodiacs: the sidereal and the tropical. The sidereal consists of constellations and the tropical of zodiac signs. Astrology is based on the latter. It divides the Sun's path into twelve pup-tastic signs (360° divided by 12 is 30°). In the background of the zodiac are constellations that bear the same names as the signs but do not spatially overlap with them.

The Sun, with its apparent journey around the Earth, creates the annual rhythm or the rhythm of nature, defining the seasons. Spring is a time of awakening (rolling in the grass for pups), summer of ripening (time for endless ball fetches), autumn of maturity (time for hiding in the leaves), and winter of dormancy (snuggles by the fireplace). Each quarter features three zodiac signs.

Twelve

paw-some signs

ARIES (March 21 - April 20)

When at the beginning of spring days get longer and squirrels get feistier, Aries start their playtime engines. Quick on their paws and always ready for a game of fetch, they're unstoppable in the dog park.

TAURUS (April 21 - May 20)

What starts as a tiny tail-wiggle turns into a full-blown happy dance. Taurus dogs are all about enjoying savoring treats, picking the best-looking toys and a comfy spot in the sun or on the couch.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)

When the flowers bloom and the air gets light and playful, Gemini doggies also come out to play. These canines are very curious, carefree, have many skills and are good communicators.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)

At the beginning of summer, the plants and animals get ready to enjoy life to the fullest. Cancers are notorious for being the parents of the Zodiac and are nurturing, gentle and protective. But just like a summer heat can quickly turn into a storm, so can an unpredictable Cancer pup quickly change its mood.

LEO (July 23 - August 22)

When summer reaches its peak and nature shows us all of its beauty and riches, Leo pups take the spotlight. They're the kings and queens of the park, flaunting their shiny coats and demanding belly rubs.

VIRGO (August 23 - September 22)

As summer turns to early fall, the Virgo pups are moderate like the weather. They are modest and will patiently sit for treats and enjoy a leisurely walk through the falling leaves.

LIBRA (September 23 - October 23)

With the start of fall, it's time for balance and harmony in nature. Libra dogs are the peacemakers, always ready to share their favorite chew toy, after careful consideration of course, and keep the dog park a fun and friendly place.

SCORPIO (October 24 - November 22)

Nature winds down and preserves its strength in seeds. Pups born at this time carry an immense strength within them, just like seeds, although they hide it well. They seem to understand how the transience of nature and life works.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 - December 21)

When winter is near and the days get shorter, Sagittarius doggies curl up by the fire and dream about the spiritual goals of life.

These canines love to roam in nature, are adventurous and often think about the meaning of life.

CAPRICORN (December 22 - January 22)

Capricorn pups are like the start of winter. The season is cold and dark, and Capripups are careful, cautious, yet also extremely resistant, hard-working and ambitious. But for it to really shine through, their human besties will have to be patient - and there are no better dogs than Capricorns to teach them this virtue.

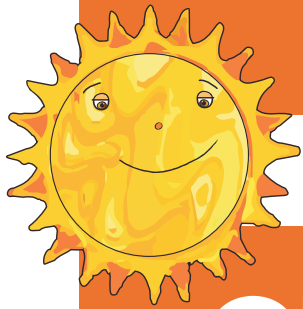

AQUARIUS (January 23 - February 18)

Pups born at this time represent spirituality and are a complete opposite to Leo pups, which are all about the body. You will notice that your dog is very humane and spiritually conscious, although it also has an individualistic and somewhat quirky personality. If your heart is open, you'll learn more from your pup than from any human.

PISCES (February 19 - March 20)

Born in the season when the snow starts to melt away and the days are getting longer and warmer, Pisces pups have a quiet nature that needs time to flourish. They are gentle, peaceful, and look at all the world and the humans in it with idealistic puppy eyes.

What is the

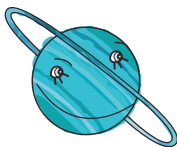

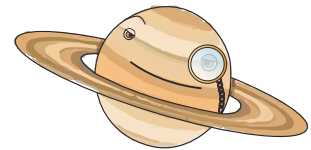

of Sun, Moon

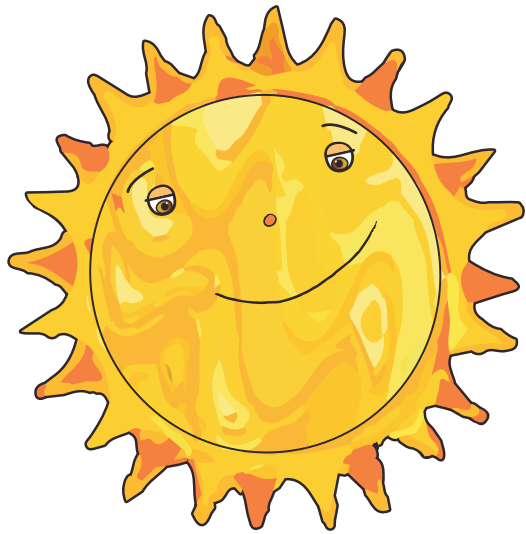

in Dogoscope?

meaning

and planets

The Sun

In astrology, the Sun is like the brightest tennis ball in the sky, but we pups count it as a planet. It represents one of the most important parts of your dog's horoscope. It describes your dog's personality, its higher calling, and its talents.

It speaks of characteristics they were born with and simply need to be expressed, upgraded, and improved. When we understand the Sun's symbolism, we realize that the Sun and the horoscope are very much alike, with one crucial difference: the Sun speaks of your dog's unique personality with unique talents while the horoscope also shines light on other parts of their being.

The Moon

Besides the Sun, the Moon is the second most important element of a birth chart. It represents your dog's emotions and emotional development, their inner self and their subconscious, their habits and instinctive reactions to the world around them.

In the horoscope, the Moon is connected to the feminine energy. It symbolizes the soul, emotions and energy. In the astrological sense, the Moon is a mother, a wife, a nurturer who cares for others.

The Moon strongly reflects a dog's emotions, both on a personal and spiritual level. It reflects their habits, sense of belonging, attachment, and warmth.

The planets

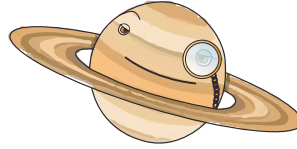

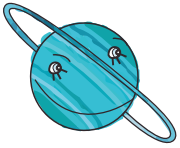

Planets are a vital component of every pup's horoscope. They represent distinct aspects of a dog's personality, and each planet position in a particular sign expresses its characteristics differently.

Personal planets

For the personal horoscope, the most important are the four inner planets, which we call personal planets: Mercury (as the closest planet to the Sun), Venus (which is also very close), Mars, and Jupiter (although quite far away, it's very large, and its influence is still noticeable and strong).

Generational planets

The outer planets, such as Saturn, Uranus, Neptune, and Pluto, move slowly and are considered generational planets because they influence entire generations. They are especially significant when they are in important positions or aspects and affect the areas in which they appear.

Planets rule individual signs

Before dog's best friends discovered the outer planets - Uranus, Neptune, and Pluto - each planet, except for the Sun and the Moon (which still rule over only one sign each), was attributed influence over two signs, one with a positive polarity and one with a negative polarity.

Mercury - communication, education, relationships, skill, resourcefulness

Venus - love, beauty, sensuality, fertility, joy

Mars - action, energy, temperament, passion, fierceness

Jupiter - friendship, honor, wisdom, cosmopolitanism, travel, luck

Saturn - limitations, restraint, distrust, a great teacher, karma

Uranus - changes, reforms, awakening, originality, unusual, outstanding inventions

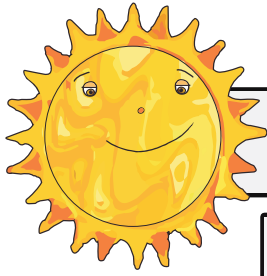

Neptune - inner, dreamy world, illusions, imagination, susceptibility, sensitivity

Pluto - subconscious, regeneration, transformation, changes

MY UNIQUE DOGOSCOPE

Your Pet's
Name

April 23, 2024
Ljubljana, Slovenia

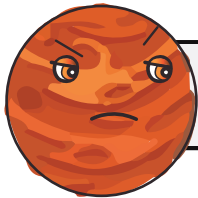

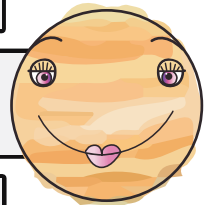

Sun in Taurus 3°44'

Moon in Libra 27°19'

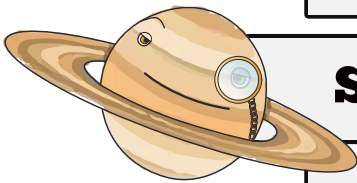

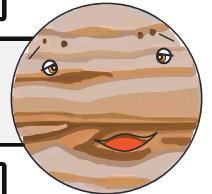

Mercury in Aries 16°10'

Venus in Aries 22°32'

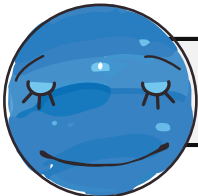

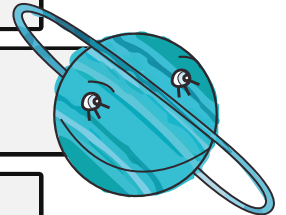

Mars in Pisces 24°25'

Jupiter in Taurus 22°22'

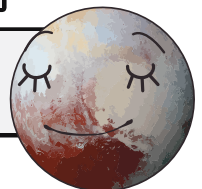

Saturn in Pisces 15°57'

Uranus in Taurus 21°58'

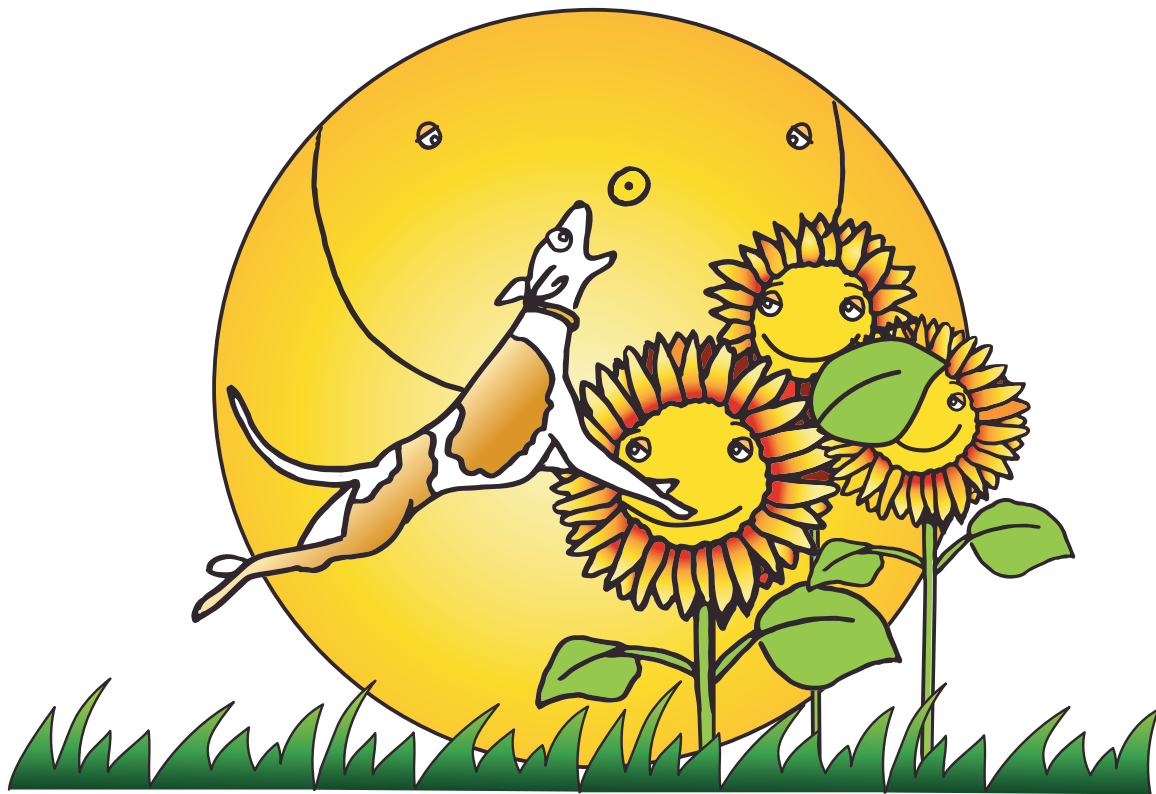

Neptune in Pisces 28°42'

Pluto in Aquarius 2°5'

The Sun in Dogoscope

The Sun's position in the sign is the most important point in the personal horoscope of every pooch. After all, it is the biggest and the most noticeable object in the sky.

The position of the Sun is what we usually call "our dog's horoscope sign". If someone says their doggo's horoscope sign is in Aries, that means that at the moment of the puppy's birth, the Sun was situated in the Aries sign. In one year, the Sun travels through all 12 signs of the horoscope. It stays in each sign for about 1 month.

The Sun in your dog's horoscope represents their personality, their inner self, their perception of themselves. Through the position of the Sun we can see your best friend's individual desires and needs, how they adapt and react to the influences from their environment and how they express their innate nature and potential.

My Sun in Taurus

You were and always will be a careful pup. You always need time to adapt, whether to new people in your life, to new doggy friends at the park or even to new toys that have that peculiar smell of the store. You are also strong-willed and once you set your mind on something, you won't change it. If you want to go left on a walk, your owner better follow your decision. You also have a loyal, trustworthy nature which makes you the true definition of man's best friend. Unless the humans or other dogs mistreat you – then you turn into everyone's worst enemy. The same goes for your temperament; you are calm until provoked – then you turn into a fierce wolf ready to stand your ground at all costs. You love music, so your owners shouldn't be surprised to hear you howling to the sound of a fire truck siren outside or singing along when they play a piano. They also shouldn't be surprised at your big appetite and will soon learn to hide food where your snout can't reach it. You are also a highly skilled gardener, or better put, digger. If your human has a patch of land or garden, you will surely help them plant many flowers by digging holes. You are an outdoorsy canine who loves long nature walks. Being a couch dog just isn't your thing.

My Sun in Taurus

Reliable, stubborn

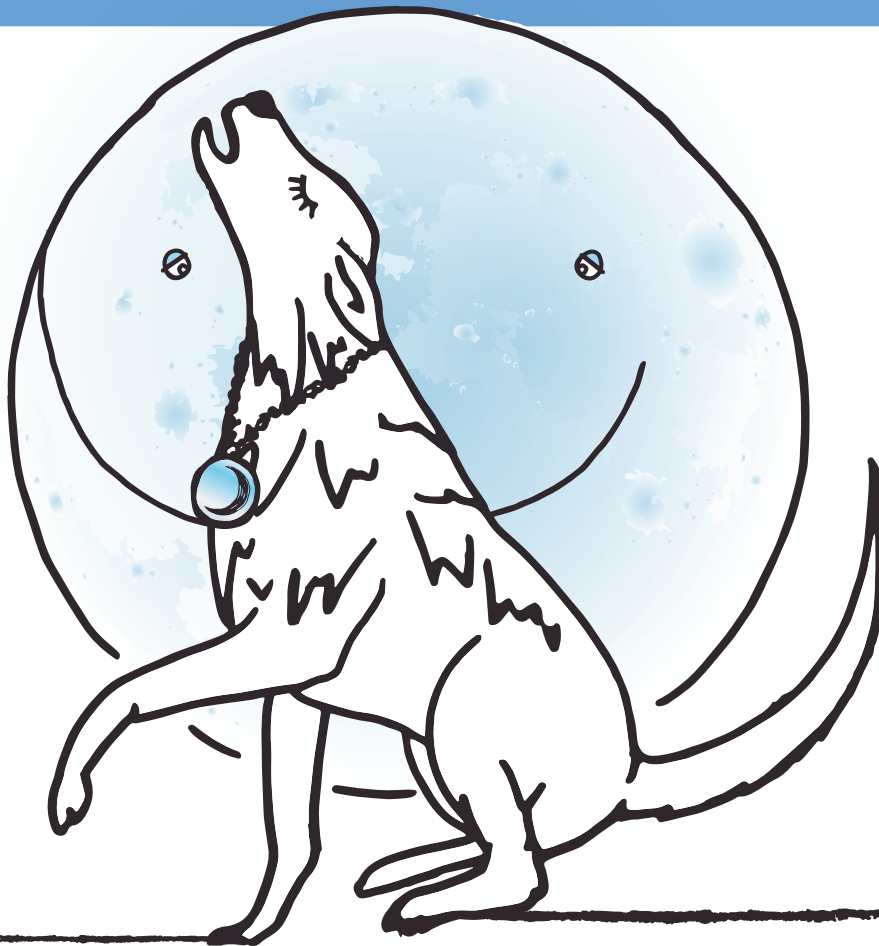

You were born to be spoiled in comfort. You need a lot of material things, like a warm fuzzy blanket and the best selection of toys, and also a lot of cuddles, kisses and belly rubs. You are also an extremely stubborn pooch and your owner should start working on their own patience at the moment they welcome you home. If they raise you with persistence, you will grow up to be a reliable friend who will always stick by their side.

For a dog, you also have an amazing sense of humor. When there's a party at your house, you'll be the life of it. And when your owner trips and falls into a puddle, your tail will wag like a propeller, because of course the sight of a wet owner is hilarious, especially if their clothes have mud all over them. Even if you are a smaller breed, your voice is deep and your bark is strong and loud. But woof, don't think you are picture perfect, you have some flaws. You are overly possessive, jealous and dominant. You will defend your ball or the stick you just found relentlessly, so your owner should keep an eye on you in the doggy park and pull you out of a potentially troublesome situation when your body-language becomes guarded. With your upbringing, your human friend will need to be adaptable and flexible. What worked with you yesterday won't work today, so you will definitely not make your owner bored. As far as your health goes, you are prone to illnesses connected to the throat and excessive body weight (which again leads us to hiding food from you). Bark to your owner that you need to drink plenty of water and go on plenty of walks, especially near the sea, river and lakes.

The Moon in Dogoscope

The position of the Moon is a very important point in every doggo's personal horoscope. In contrast to the Sun, the Moon travels much faster. It makes the entire path through 12 signs in one Moon cycle (which lasts approximately 28 days) and so changes its influence much more quickly. However, because of its size and proximity, its influence can be very strong - no wonder dog's ancestors howl at the Moon.

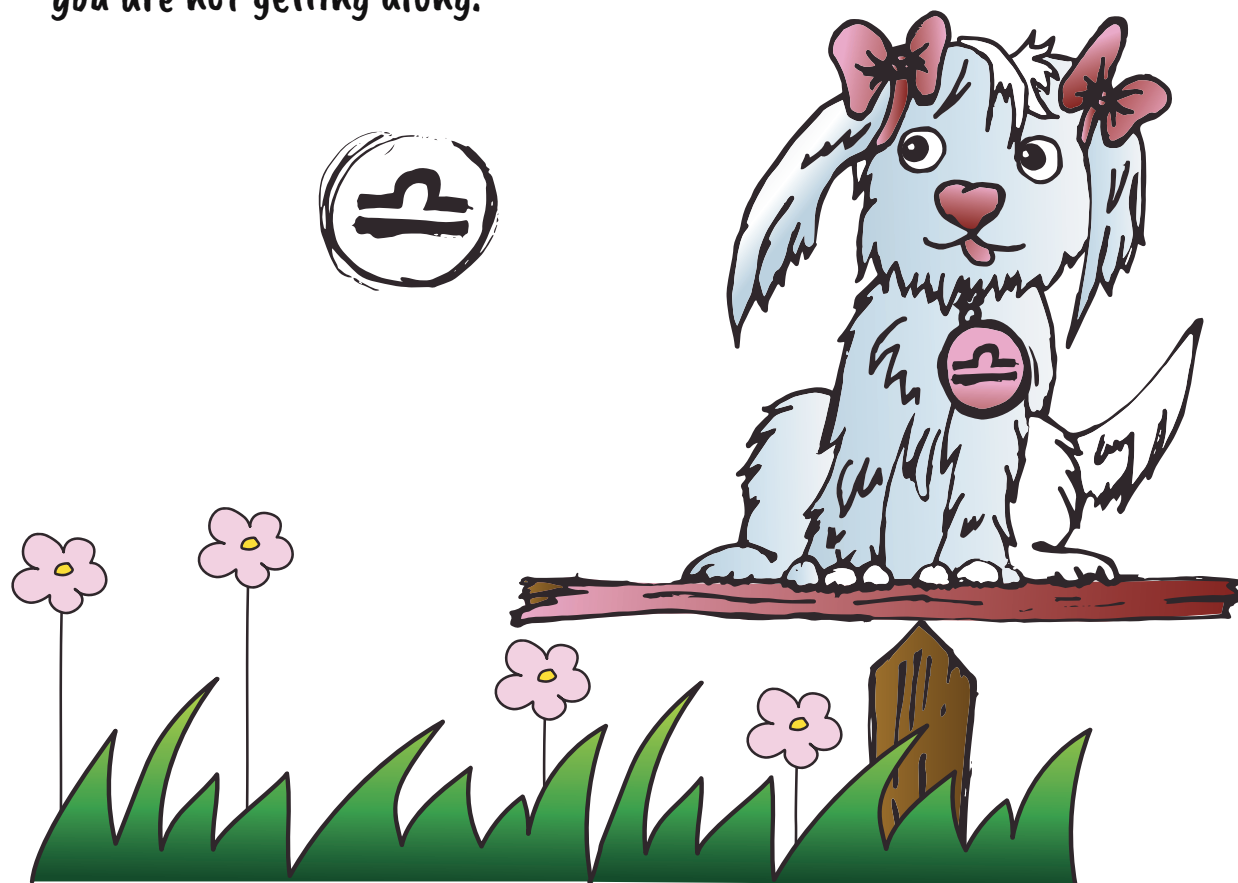

The Moon in the personal horoscope represents your canine's subconscious self, their emotions and sensations. Its position describes how they react on a subconscious and intuitive level.

Of course the Moon's position acts completely differently on a dog who has the Sun in Aries than on a dog who has the Sun in Cancer. That is why it's important that you keep other analyses in mind when reading the horoscope and try to harmonize all of them.

My Moon in Libra

You are such a good boy or girl! You're kind and beautiful on the inside and out, a true definition of man's best friend. Everyone loves your charming behavior and you're a master at making friends of all shapes (breeds) and sizes. You seek a calm life where everything seems to be in balance — you will try to break up two dogs fighting, because violence really isn't your thing. You are naturally talented in bringing harmony to your home and your environment, just putting hands on you will fill everyone with positive energy. You actually have a developed sense of aesthetics. Your owner can put you to the test and make you choose between a boring raincoat or a designer one — we bet you'll choose the prettier one. You are usually low-key, but on rare occasions, you'll choose to steal the spotlight from your owner and show off what a good canine you are.

You love flattering and could listen to people's praises of you for hours — how good you look, how well you behave, how cute your puppy eyes are, how elegantly you paw. In fact, you like this so much that you can't deny people anything after they've showered you with kind words. Therefore, it stresses you out if those around you are not getting along.

You could never pick sides with anyone and generally have trouble making decisions – your owner better make the decision whether to go to the park or to the woods for you. You need a dog parent that loves you unconditionally and gives you an abundance of cuddles and then some. You also love to have fun and, boy (or girl), do you love sweets!

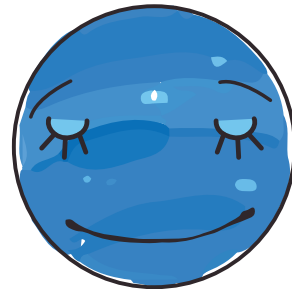

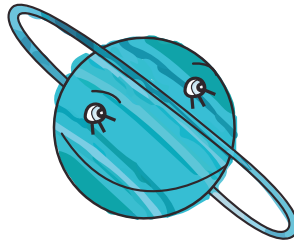

Artistic soul, you love socializing

You're such a creative pup! Your owner shouldn't be surprised to find you enjoying music, meditating in a sun patch on the balcony or trying to help paint a paw-tastic painting. You also have a great sense of style and you always want to look your best – did the owner comb your beautiful hair before a walk? Not today? Well, that's ok, you don't like routine anyway. Make sure you drink lots of water and eat your veggies like the goodest boy or girl. You might have some trouble with your kidneys, bladder, or urinary tract – on your walks in nature, you occasionally treat yourself to balm plants or let your owner give you a lick of lime – and make a funny video of your sour face when you do so.

PLANETS

Besides the Sun and the Moon there are four planets that are very important for any dog's personal horoscope analysis and define individual parts of their personality: Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

Mercury in Dogoscope

Mercury is the planet nearest to the Sun and it travels the fastest. That is why it is a very important personal planet which influences communication, education, relationships, skillfulness and resourcefulness.

Mercury also symbolizes transport and travels, especially short ones. The position of Mercury in a person's personal horoscope tells us how they think, communicate with the outer world and generally describes all the things that occupy their mind.

My Mercury in Aries

You are a stubborn, dynamic, impulsive and intense pup. You react quickly and strongly. You love 'debating' and will often be seen barking to dogs or humans, as if you are proving a point or even arguing.

You seem to be ambitious and will start chasing a tennis ball, for example, but you are also not always persistent and will sometimes stop chasing it even before it hits the ground. You also like to exaggerate. With everything — either with food or by demanding too many cuddles for your owner to handle. Sometimes you can have no empathy for other dogs and humans and only see the world through your point of view.

Venus in Dogoscope

In astrology, Venus rules the signs of Taurus and Libra. Venus is a very important personal planet in any pup's life as it travels fast and quickly changes signs.

In your doggo's personal horoscope, Venus is connected to love, beauty, emotions, and joy. The position of Venus tells us how a pooch expresses emotions in relationships with other dogs and humans, especially love and affection.

It also defines an attitude towards personal belongings that the pup  has in their home.

My Venus in Aries

You, pup, express your emotions in a passionate and impetuous way, you feel and react strongly. Your owner will never doubt whether you're in a good or bad mood, because you will display it honestly. With your fiery temperament, other doggies and people can sometimes feel smothered by you. But they never stop loving you, because of your positive demeanor and contagious high spirits. You enjoy the simple things in life, are enthusiastic about every walk or play time and sort of hypnotize those you interact with to feel the same. You can be a good pack leader and it's no wonder smaller and younger pups will want to hang out with you. You won't always play diplomatically and patiently, though, but hey, pupsters got to learn how to be grown-ups, right.

You quickly become friends with everyone you meet, whether they have four paws or two legs. You also cool off quickly. All in all, you make decisions about everything quickly.

Mars in Dogoscope

Mars is a planet of physical energy and action. It rules the Aries sign and traditionally (before Pluto was discovered) also Scorpio. Mars is also one of the personal planets, because on average it stays in one sign for less than two months and therefore has an important influence on the pup's personality.

In the personal horoscope, Mars is connected to action, energy, competitiveness, hot-bloodedness and impetuosity. The position of Mars tells us in what way and in what form dogs express their activity. Mars also indicates their skills and ambitions.

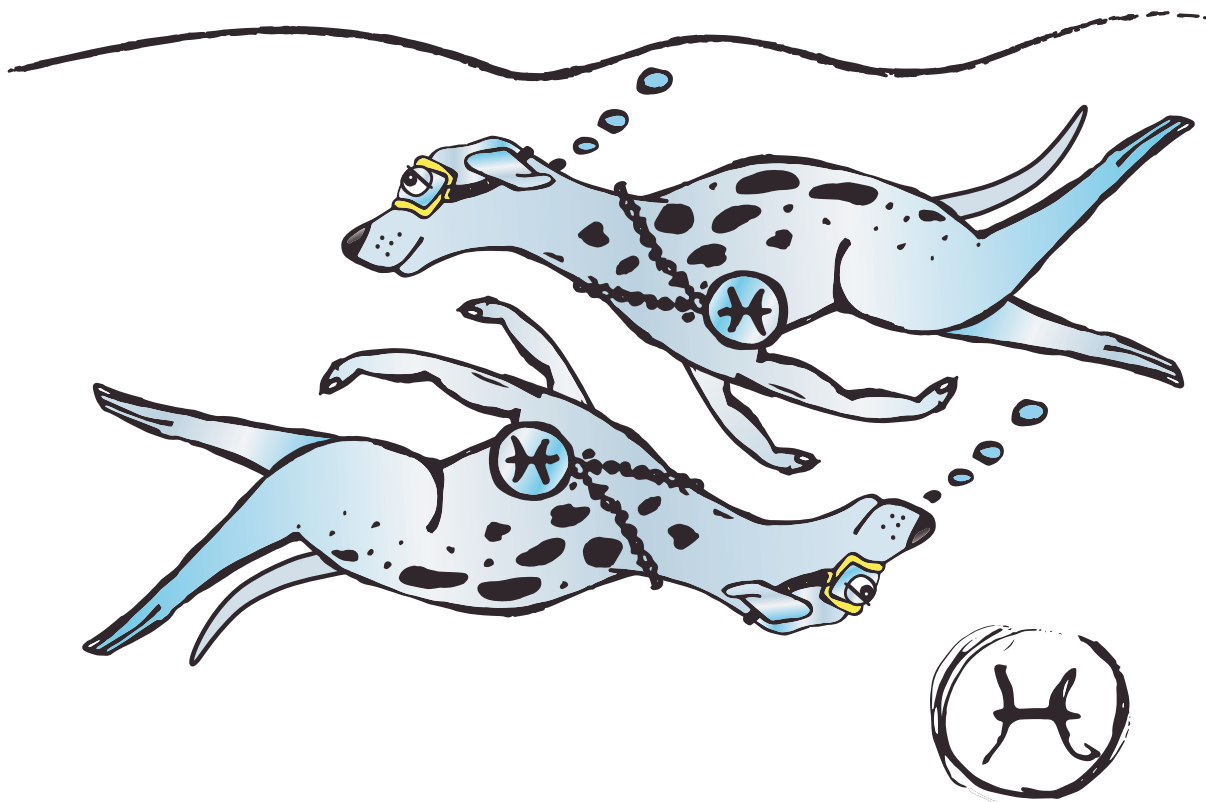

My Mars in Pisces

You are a dynamic, somehow uncatchable and mysterious pup. You have a moody and extremely sensitive nature, so your owner should try to stay in touch with your emotions to better understand you.

If you had a human job, you would definitely be an artist, because you have a vivid imagination and a creative spirit. You also have a great sense of rhythm, you will do your tippy taps when listening to music or tilt your head left and right to follow the beat.

You have an enormous inner and physical strength, however, and you're very much led by your feelings and your instincts.

You also have a natural talent for teaching younger pups how to behave and be a good doggo. You are a gentle, sensitive soul, totally committed to those you love.

Jupiter in Dogoscope

Jupiter is a more remote planet which travels pretty slowly, because it stays in one sign for approximately one year. But because of its size, it is classified as a personal planet, since it has a strong influence on the personal horoscope of every dog.

In astrology, Jupiter represents friendships, honor, wisdom, views, travels. The position of Jupiter tells us your pup's values and beliefs. Jupiter is connected to growth, progress and happiness.

My Jupiter in Taurus

You are an honest and responsible pupster who enjoys all life's pleasures.

You somehow attract abundance and usually have a rich owner who spoils you — which is great because you like indulging in a life of comfort.

The outer planets (Saturn, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto) travel very slowly and are called generational planets. Neptune and Pluto, for example, have entire generations in the same sign, which is why the position of these planets is not as important in a dog's personal horoscope interpretation. However, it is so much more important if generational planets are at important points, if they form important aspects - and their importance, of course, depends on the house they are in.

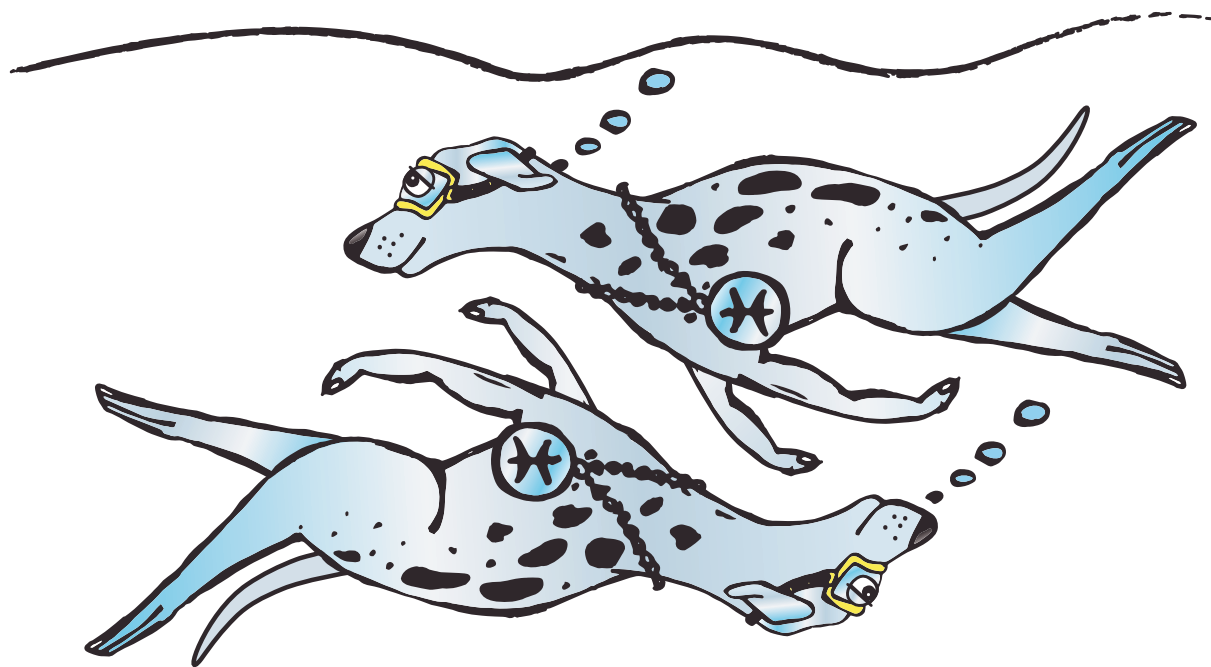

Saturn in Dogoscope

Saturn is the natural ruler of Capricorn and the planet that represents limitations, uneasiness, distrust, great teachings and karma.

Saturn symbolizes the limitations in your pooch's life that they have to overcome on their path of personal growth.

The position of Saturn shows how canines develop responsibility and discipline. It also importantly influences their activities and ambitions. It represents authorities, the elders hierarchy, time and hard and persistent work.

My Saturn in Pisces

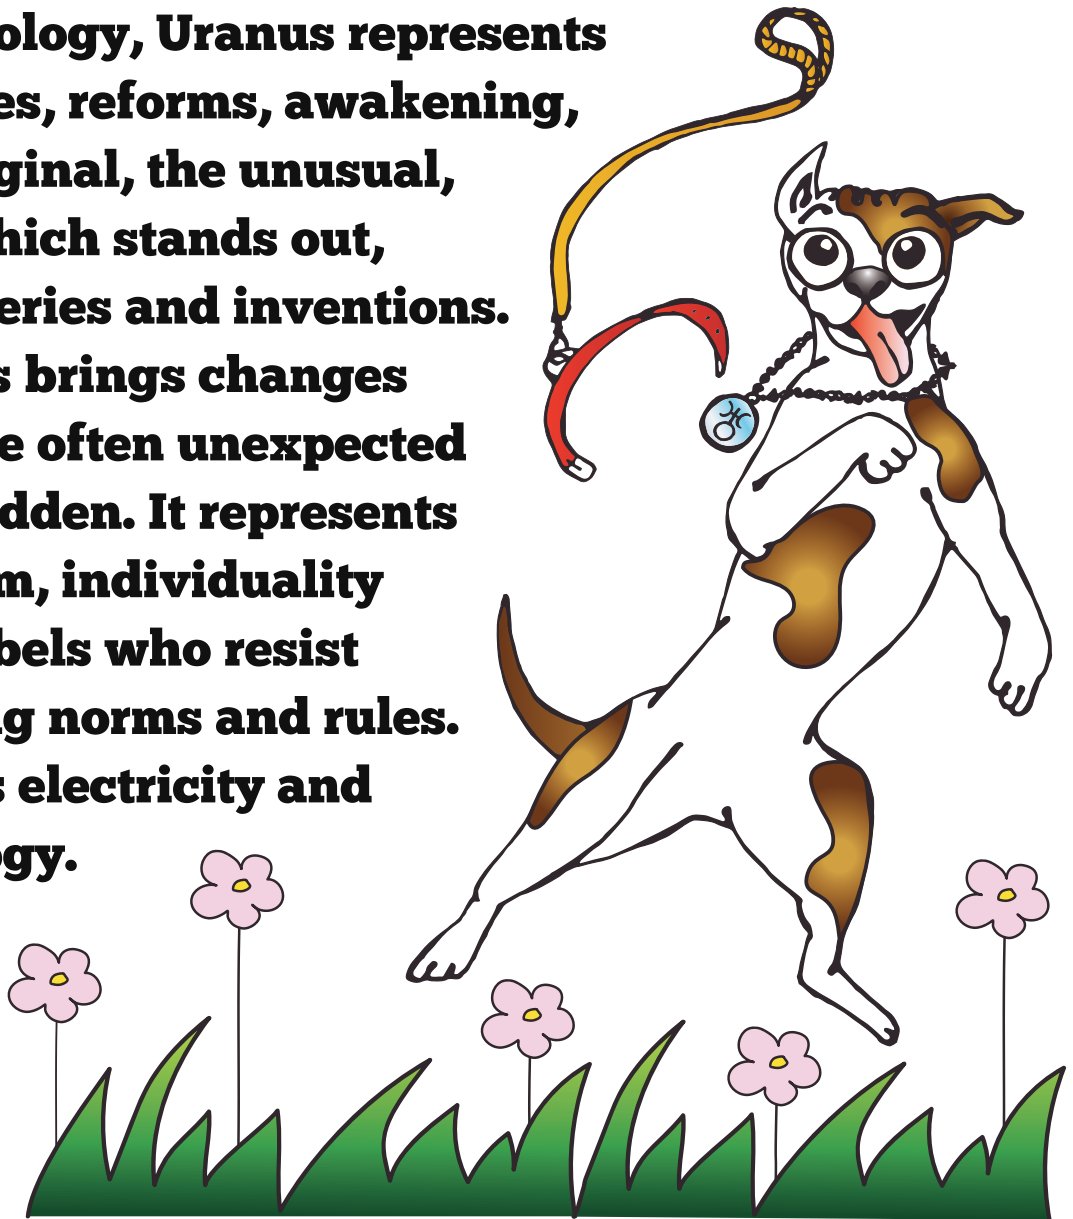

You're a very understanding canine and tolerant even to the most annoying puppies. In many ways, you get along better with two-legged humans rather than with your four-legged pack and actually care about solving their problems – after all, is there anything in the world a good cuddle from you can't cure?

You love to lend an ear to anyone in need and that's why you're everybody's favorite dog on the block. But sometimes you identify yourself with other people's and dog's problems and start to feel like their fleas are your fleas. And before you know it, you feel like a victim. So don't forget to take care of your own needs too. In whatever you do, you follow your own rules and commands, which can sometimes cause some friction with others.

Uranus in Dogoscope

Uranus is a distant planet which was discovered only in the 18th century and its influence was attributed to Aquarius. It takes Uranus 84 years to travel around the Sun and it stays in one sign for approximately 7 years. That is why it is classified as a generational planet, because its position in a sign of a dog's personal horoscope influences one entire generation of pooches in the period of 7 years.

In astrology, Uranus represents changes, reforms, awakening, the original, the unusual, that which stands out, discoveries and inventions. Uranus brings changes that are often unexpected and sudden. It represents freedom, individuality and rebels who resist existing norms and rules. It rules electricity and astrology.

My Uranus in Taurus

Uranus is one of the more distant planets, which travel more slowly and influence an entire generation of canines, and is thus also treated as a generational planet in your pup's personal horoscope.

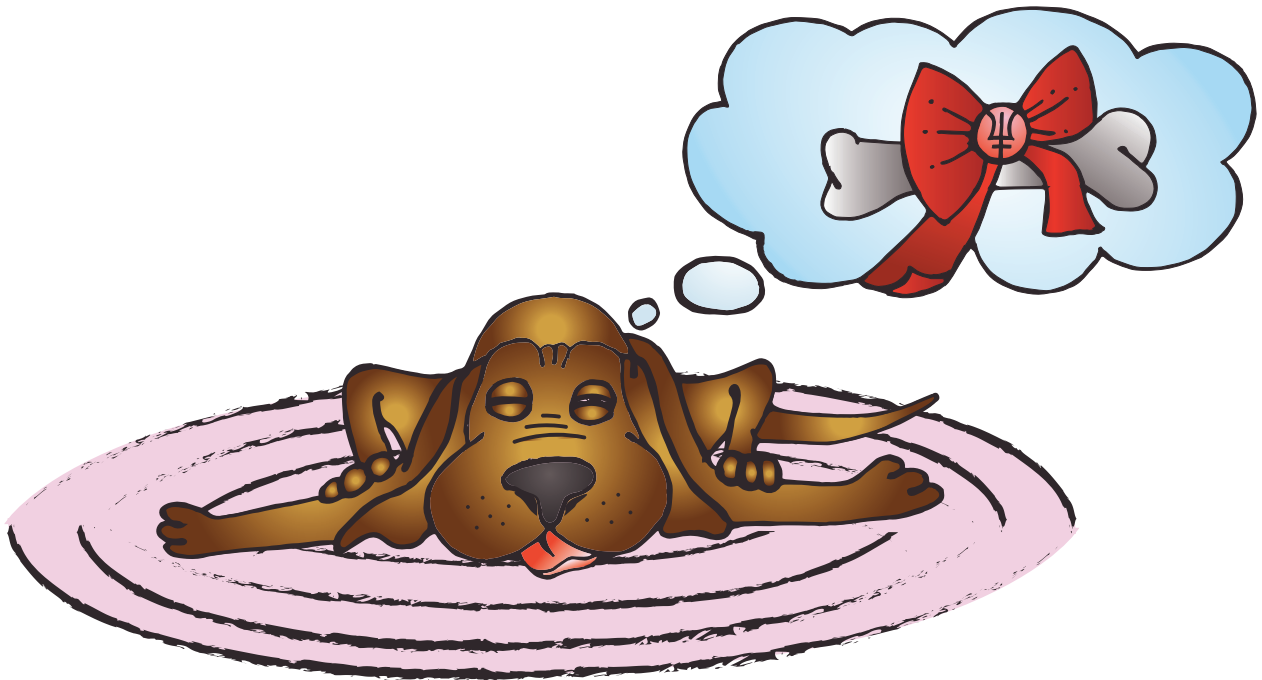

You belong to a generation that's all about energy, healthy eating and natural healing.

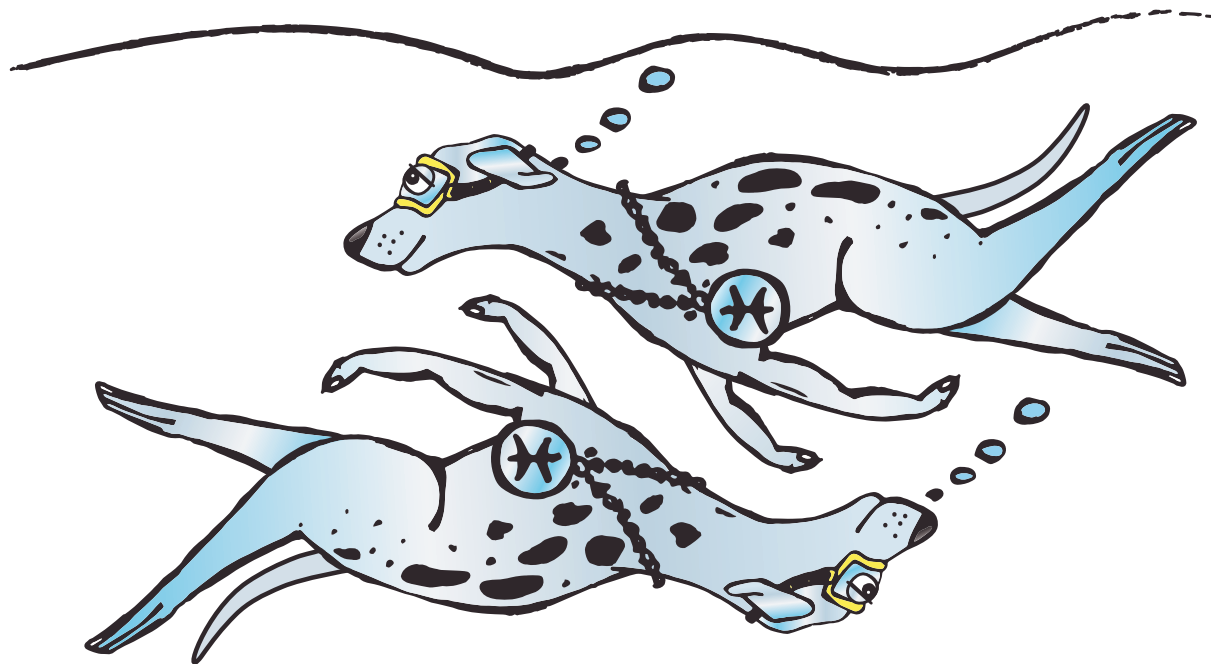

You're always sniffing out new plants with medicinal properties.

Neptune in Dogoscope

Neptune is a very distant planet which was discovered only in the middle of the 19th century and its influence was attributed to Pisces. It takes Neptune 165 years to travel around the Sun and it stays in each sign for approximately 14 years. That is why Neptune is one of the generational planets - its position in a sign has a more generational and historical influence rather than influencing one dog's personal characteristics.

In astrology, Neptune represents the inner dream world, illusions, imagination, susceptibility and perceptiveness. It is connected to confusion, illusions and deceptions - and it basically represents the most subtle point of a pupster's personality through which they can rise to a higher level.

My Neptune in Pisces

Neptune, positioned among the more remote celestial bodies, moves at a leisurely pace like a senior doggo and influences entire generations of pups.

You belong to a generation of pups that's all about rediscovering your primal instincts and finding solace in solitude.

You find purpose in taking time for yourself and working on becoming the best dog you can be, whether you're meditating with your favorite toy, taking a long walk or snuggling in your bed.

Pluto in Dogoscope

Pluto is the slowest planet and it takes 248 years for it to travel around the Sun. Because of its unusual orbit, it stays in one sign for different periods of time, from 1 to 3 years. Pluto was discovered only in 1930 and its influence is attributed to Scorpio. As is the case with Uranus and Neptune, Pluto is also one of the generational planets - its position in a dog's sign thus has a more generational and historical significance.

The key word for Pluto is transformation and it is connected to death which basically symbolizes transition into a new state. It is also connected to secret things, the subconscious, regeneration, transformation and changes.

My Pluto in Aquarius

Pluto, as one of the furthest-reaching planets, with its slow orbit, holds its tight paw grip over entire generations of pups, earning it recognition as a generational planet in your pup's dogoscope.

You belong to a new-age generation which is all about changes and reforms — whether you're digging up a garden to plant seeds for a more sustainable future or trying to teach your human what changes they should make for you to lead a better life.

Your Pet's Name

MY DOGOSCOPE

